International Real Estate for Local Markets November 11-12, 2009

Think you're pretty removed from the international real estate scene? Think again. National Association of REALTORS® research has found that 10% of all Americans are foreign-born and 20% of "new" Americans purchase real estate within one year of entering the United States.

To help you succeed in this increasingly diverse and international business environment, NAR will offer International Real Estate for Local Markets, the prerequisite course for the Certified International Property Specialist (CIPS) designation, in conjunction with the REALTORS® Conference & Expo in San Diego.

Learn how to tap into the immigrant niche, take advantage of the growth of foreign investment in U.S. real estate, increase your earning potential, and expand your networking opportunities.
